Acknowledgement

We would like to extend our heartfelt appreciation to all those who contributed to the successful execution of the Mid-Term Review of the AEA Strategic Plan 2020-2024. This comprehensive assessment would not have been possible without the dedicated efforts and valuable insights of numerous individuals and groups who actively participated in the process.

First and foremost, we express our gratitude to the esteemed stakeholders who took part in the workshops. Your enthusiastic engagement, thoughtful inputs, and constructive discussions were instrumental in shaping the direction of the AEA's strategic initiatives.

We also extend our thanks to the AEA Secretariat for their unwavering support and guidance throughout the review process. Their expertise and commitment to transparency and excellence greatly facilitated the collection and analysis of critical data. Special thanks to Melissa, the AEA intern who helped document the process during the Botswana consultative meetings.

Additionally, we would like to acknowledge the individuals who took part in the online survey. Your candid feedback provided essential quantitative data that complemented the qualitative insights gathered during workshops and sessions. We are also grateful to the entire team involved in the Mid-Term Review project, from the planning stage to the compilation of this report. Your dedication and collaborative efforts ensured the smooth execution of this important endeavor.

Lastly, we want to express our appreciation to the AEA leadership and Board members for entrusting us with this vital undertaking. It is your commitment to continuous improvement that drives the Association forward.

This report stands as a testament to the collective commitment of all stakeholders in advancing the AEA's mission and fulfilling its strategic goals. Your contributions have been instrumental in shaping the future direction of the organization, and we are confident that the insights and recommendations contained herein will serve as a valuable resource for the continued success of the AEA.

Thank you all for your unwavering support, dedication, and enthusiasm.

God Bless!

Executive Summary

Established in 1966, the Association of Evangelicals in Africa (AEA), has been at the forefront of uniting and amplifying the voices of evangelical Christians across the African continent. AEA serves as the continental umbrella organization, representing National Evangelical Alliances/ Fellowships (NEFs) and Evangelical Para-church organizations throughout the region.

The Mid-Term Strategy review was commissioned as part of AEA's commitment to continuous improvement and adaptation with a purpose of assessing progress made so far, gaps, gather critical insights from stakeholders, and explore opportunities to align with the current situation and future improvement.

There was recognition that during the past three years of the strategy implementations, the landscape had changed greatly occasioned by the COVID19 pandemic, AEA leadership transition, new staff on board, ongoing conflicts in the region and the declining economics.

The review employed participatory and multi-method approach, combining qualitative and quantitative methods. Various key stakeholders including NEFs, Associate Members and Commission's members, AEA Secretariat and church leaders were engaged through the online survey, Focus Group Discussions, Key Informant interviews and the interactions during the leadership summit.

Key findings from the exercise has pointed to key successes, gaps, opportunities for the future as well as recommendations to improving sustainability of the organization. Notable successes so far include: strengthening of weak national alliances and forging the formation of new ones, new membership of associate members, increase of active members with increase in subscription fees, leadership capacity building in a number of countries, robust regional consultations addressing local issues like religious extremism, persecution and building resilience, progress in integral mission with reaching one un-reached people group, new focused grants on relief, trauma healing initiatives, pastoral entrepreneurship, structural growth in the formation of prayer desk, Children's Desk, setting up research and resource center infrastructure, advocacy to secure desk at Africa Union, the launch of Scaling up-non-formal theological education initiative and subsequent continental consultations, as well as the institutional growth in terms of staff, systems, policy formulation and transition to digital platforms to enhance communication within the AEA family. Notable progress was also observed in enhancement of relationships of AEA with its institutions such as AIU in Nairobi, ACTEA and PEMA in Code'd Voire.

Major gaps highlighted include, limited awareness and engagement on the strategy by NEFS, the non-inclusion of women and youth in the governing structures of AEA, lack of clarity on membership of some African countries that doubles up as members in the MENA region, lack of robust and transformative discipleship program, poorly disciplined evangelicals, and a weak advocacy strategy.

However huge opportunities exist for AEA to address intentional discipleship, involvement of both women, youth and children (the largest demography in the continent) as both a Mission field and Mission force, position AEA for greater advocacy at all levels, strengthen partnerships with other key players as well as build a new paradigm towards sustainability for the Association of Evangelicals in Africa.

Key recommendations for the remaining 1.5 years of the strategy have been put forward which include: Better synergy between the Secretariat and NEFs to realize the One Vision of the Africa God wants, refocus integral mission to have greater impact (e.g children, youth and women, peacebuilding and climate change), develop a robust advocacy strategy, review governance structures to be more inclusive, address institutional gaps in terms of policies, systems and structures and cultivate a more Chris-centered organizational culture.

In conclusion, the mid-term review underscores the importance of refining strategies to align with evolving stakeholder needs. The process has laid a strong foundation for the next phase of AEA strategy

1.0. Background

Established in 1966, the Association of Evangelicals in Africa (AEA) has been at the forefront of uniting and amplifying the voices of evangelical Christians across the African continent. AEA serves as the continental umbrella organization, representing National Evangelical Fellowships/Alliances (NEFs) and Para-church organizations throughout the African region.

Throughout its history, AEA has remained steadfast in its commitment to fostering unity, providing a collective identity, amplifying the evangelical Christian voice, and offering a common platform for collaboration. These efforts are geared toward enhancing the effectiveness of evangelical Christians in fulfilling the mission of the Church across Africa.

The core purpose and mission of AEA are deeply rooted in its dedication to advancing the evangelical Christian cause in Africa. AEA's overarching goal is to foster unity among diverse evangelical groups, allowing them to stand together with a unified voice and purpose. This unity serves as a powerful catalyst for effectively addressing the challenges and opportunities facing the Church and evangelical Christians on the continent.

To operationalize its mission and vision, AEA developed a strategic plan for the period 2020-2024 to provide guidance and direction, equipping AEA and its member organizations to navigate the evolving landscape of African Christianity and society.

As the years progressed and the implementation of the strategic plan gained momentum, AEA recognized the need for a more inclusive and coordinated approach. The realization that deeper and broader impact could be achieved through increased engagement and collaboration prompted AEA to reassess its strategies.

This led to a profound commitment to involve a wider array of stakeholders in shaping and executing the strategies, ensuring that the evangelical movement in Africa would truly take its rightful position on the continent.

1.2. Purpose of the Evaluation

In light of this background, AEA embarked on a comprehensive Mid-Term Review of its Strategic Plan 2020-2024.

The aim was to assess progress, gather critical insights from stakeholders, and explore avenues for enhanced coordination and engagement.

The primary objectives of this consultancy as per the TOR were as follows:

- Mid-term Evaluation of the current Strategic Plan of the Association of Evangelicals in Africa (AEA).
- Develop tools for data collection and analysis. (See annex: 8.1)

The consultant's specific objectives included:

1. Review the current strategic plan, identifying successes and challenges.
2. Perform a SWOT analysis to position AEA for evangelical growth, aligning with its 2066 vision.
3. Evaluate the current strategy's alignment with AEA's initiatives and continent-wide expectations.
4. Develop sustainability strategies, emphasizing adaptability to changing times, with a focus on key areas.

This report summarizes the key findings from the midterm review of the AEA strategic plan reflecting the collective commitment and collaborative efforts put forth to assess progress, gather critical insights, and explore avenues for the continual advancement of the evangelical cause on the continent.

2.0. Evaluation Methodology

The evaluation approach employed for this strategic review was highly participatory and designed with a deliberate focus on reaching a broad spectrum of stakeholders.

A comprehensive multi-method approach, blending qualitative and quantitative methods, was utilized. The diverse pool of respondents was categorized into various groups, including National Evangelical Fellowships/ Alliances (NEFs), projects and commissions, associate members, AEA leadership and secretariat, and church leaders.

2.1. Data Collection and Analysis

To ensure a holistic understanding of the AEA strategic plan's performance, a multi-faceted approach was adopted where several activities were conducted. Both qualitative and quantitative data collection techniques were applied throughout the process.

The following data collection methods were adopted;

- Desk Review: a review of a series of documents was conducted as part of the mid-term evaluation of the Association of Evangelicals in Africa (AEA) strategic plan which revealed several cross-cutting issues.
- An online survey was conducted using Google Forms, which allowed respondents to complete questionnaires electronically. The survey included closed-ended and open-ended questions. Data was collected from 19 respondents who participated in the survey.
- Leadership Summit in Botswana: Data from the Leadership Summit was collected through plenary sessions, workshops, and discussions. Participants shared their insights, experiences, and opinions during these sessions. The data for this component was gathered from the 150 delegates who attended the Leadership Summit.
- Focused Group Discussions (FGDs): During the leadership summits Focus Group Discussions were conducted, data was collected through these structured group discussions during the Leadership Summit. The participants in the FGDs contributed to the qualitative data collected.
- AEA Secretariat Interactive Workshop: Participants in the various sections within the AEA Secretariat Interactive Workshop, including Secretariat staff and key informants, contributed to the data collected.;
  - Post Leadership Summit Reflections: Qualitative data was collected during discussions and reflections on the outcomes of the Leadership Summit.
  - Performance Review by Secretariat (Staff): data related to the AEA Strategic Plan Pillars was collected and reviewed by the Secretariat staff.
  - Key Informant Interviews: Qualitative data was collected through interviews with key individuals involved in the strategy.
  - AEA Strategic plan SWOT Analysis: qualitative data related to the strength, weakness, opportunities and threats of the strategic plan was reviewed by the secretariat.

Data Collection Tools

Structured focus group discussion (FGD) guides, key informant interview (KII) questionnaires, an online survey questionnaire, SWOT analysis matrix and performance review sheet based on the 5 strategic plan was utilized and administered to different stakeholders. (See annex: 8.4)

These instruments were thoughtfully designed to elicit feedback from stakeholders regarding the achievements, challenges, effectiveness, sustainability, and recommendations related to the AEA Strategic Plan for the period 2020-2024."

Overall, the evaluation methodology was comprehensive, combining quantitative data from the online survey, qualitative insights from discussions, workshops, and interviews, and a performance review by the AEA Secretariat. This mix of methods allowed for a holistic assessment of the strategy's progress and effectiveness.

2.2. Findings

2.2.1. Desk Review

The desk review conducted as part of the mid-term evaluation of the Association of Evangelicals in Africa (AEA) strategic plan revealed several cross-cutting issues that are central to AEA's mission and vision. These issues highlight the organization's commitment to unity, collaboration, and holistic development within the evangelical Christian community in Africa.

The following documents were reviewed; AEA vision 2066, AEA current 5- year strategic plan, AEA evaluation conducted, African Union 2063, The African Union's Agenda 2063, All African conferences of churches (AACC) vision, The World Evangelical Alliance vision. (See annex: 8.5)

A summary of the key cross-cutting themes and insights from the desk review;

- Vision for Transformative Change: AEA's vision for "The Africa God Wants" by 2066 is a central theme that underpins its strategic plan. This vision emphasizes unity, purpose, and witness within the evangelical community, aiming for a well-governed, financially sustainable, and spiritually vibrant church that positively impacts society. It aligns with broader African and global development agendas, reflecting a commitment to transformative change on the continent.
- Strategic Focus Areas: AEA's current five-year strategic plan outlines five key result areas, including Integral Mission, Theological and Christian Education, Communication and Advocacy, Technology and Research, and Institutional Development. These focus areas emphasize the importance of a comprehensive approach to evangelism, leadership development, and advocacy within the evangelical community.
- Challenges and Opportunities: The desk review identified challenges such as limited financial resources, the need for theological training, and localized impact. These challenges are seen as opportunities for growth and improvement, prompting a call for structural changes, resource mobilization, and a sustainable funding base. AEA recognizes that addressing these challenges is essential to achieving its ambitious goals.

- Alignment with African Union's Agenda 2063: AEA's vision aligns with the African Union's Agenda 2063, which seeks to promote inclusive development, economic transformation, good governance, and peace on the continent. Both agendas emphasize the importance of unity, sustainable development, and global engagement in shaping Africa's future.
- Interdenominational Collaboration: AEA's mission involves bringing together evangelical Christians from diverse denominations and backgrounds. This interdenominational collaboration is a recurring theme in the desk review, highlighting the importance of a united Christian voice in addressing social justice issues, promoting peace, and advancing sustainable development.
- Global Reference Points: The desk review references the World Evangelical Alliance (WEA) as a global reference point that shares similar goals of unity, strengthening churches and leaders, and promoting the well-being of individuals and nations through the Gospel. This global perspective reinforces AEA's commitment to a broader evangelical community.

2.2.2. Online Survey:

Key findings from the online survey conducted for the mid-term evaluation of the Association of Evangelicals in Africa (AEA) strategic plan include a need to prioritize consultation and collaboration with national alliances, enhance organization's sustainability, empower National Evangelical Fellowships (NEFs), focus on strategic priorities, improve multilingual communication, decentralize activities, ensure diverse representation, maintain effective communication, mobilize resources, promote inclusive workshops and regional engagement, and emphasize empowerment initiatives and integral mission planning.

These findings highlight the significance of inclusive, sustainable, and collaborative strategies to align with AEA's transformative vision for Africa. (See annex: 8.6)

2.2.3. Botswana Workshop

Leadership Summit

The summit held in Gaborone, Botswana, in August 2023, titled "The Africa God Wants," brought together evangelical leaders from 29 African countries. The event was hosted by the Association of Evangelicals in Africa (AEA) and aimed to establish a programmatic agenda for the transformation of the continent. (See Annex: 8.8)

During the summit, Focus Group Discussions (FGD) where participants were divided into 5 groups and key informant interviews were conducted;

Focus Group Discussions- The key emerging issues from the FGDs were a notable awareness gap regarding the AEA Strategic Plan document among members, indicating the need for improved information dissemination. However, effective communication through newsletters and Facebook was a notable success. These issues collectively highlight the importance of improving document awareness, leveraging technology for mission, building on successful communication strategies, and enhancing collaboration and monitoring mechanisms to advance AEA's strategic goals effectively.

Key Informant Interviews- The KIIs highlighted several key issues and recommendations including building alliances, staying relevant in today's context, empowering women, and fostering regional connections. The incomplete adoption of AEA's strategic pillars by some National Evangelical Fellowships (NEFs) was fronted as a major challenge. Engagement of women, youth empowerment, strengthening NEFs role, staff training, interactive conferences, institutional advocacy, website improvement, better communication with NEFs, increased female representation, regional collaboration, and language diversity was fronted as a recommendation for AEA sustainability.

AEA Secretariat Interactive Workshop

During the AEA secretariat interactive session, the following activities were conducted;

Post Leadership Summit Reflection - God's Call to Consider in the Revised Strategy:

The workshop session brought to light several critical highlights that hold significant implications for the revision and implementation of the Association of Evangelicals in Africa (AEA) strategy. There was a unanimous call for an urgent shift in the discipleship model, emphasizing intentional and robust discipleship, a consensus emerged on the need to engage children, youth, families, and women actively, not only in program participation but also in governance and decision-making processes. Furthermore, the session underscored the importance of a robust follow-up strategy, ensuring that the high-level aspirations set at the strategic planning level translate into tangible, on-the-ground outcomes. (See annex: 8:10)

Performance Review by Secretariat

The secretariat reviewed the performance of the strategic plan, what has been achieved, what has not been achieved, rating its effectiveness and relevance (See annex: 8.11)

SWOT Analysis

From the SWOT analysis, the following were the key issues that emerged;

- Organizational Governance and Structure: AEA faces challenges related to its organizational structure and governance, which may lead to inefficiencies and duplication of roles. Clearer role definitions and structural improvements are needed to enhance effectiveness.
- Youth Engagement: The organization struggles with effectively engaging and involving youth, a crucial demographic in Africa. Addressing this challenge is essential to ensure AEA's relevance and long-term impact.
- Communication Deficiencies: Internal and external communication within AEA experience delays and deficiencies. Improved communication strategies and systems are necessary to streamline operations and enhance collaboration.
- Financial Sustainability: The commitment and financial subscriptions of National Evangelical Fellowships (NEFs) are relatively low. Achieving financial sustainability is essential to support AEA's mission and projects effectively.
- Adaptability and Organizational Culture: AEA faces issues related to slow adaptability to change and organizational culture. A more adaptable and cohesive culture is needed to respond to evolving challenges and opportunities effectively.
- Human Resource Management: There are concerns about staff remuneration and motivation within AEA. Addressing these issues is crucial to retain skilled personnel and maintain organizational morale.
- Technology/ Automation: Need to reduce paper and manual processes which create delays and inefficiencies. Addressing this issue would lead to real time response time to workflow processes.

These issues encompass governance, youth engagement, communication, finance, organizational culture, and human resources, and addressing them will be pivotal in strengthening AEA's operations and impact (See annex: 8.12)

3.0. Summary of Key Findings/ Emerging Issues

- Awareness and Understanding of Strategic Plan: Very few respondents were aware of the AEA Strategic Plan for 2020-2024, only a small percentage within the AEA secretariat indicated awareness, and the depth of their understanding varied.
- Awareness Gap: Limited exposure to the strategic plan document among participants, underscored the need for improved communication and dissemination.
- Accessibility of the Plan: Stakeholders mentioned having access to the strategic plan, but there's a need to ensure transparency and inclusivity in communicating how to access it.
- Effectiveness of Implementation: The majority of stakeholders rated the effectiveness of the current plan's implementation as average, indicating room for improvement in translating objectives into tangible outcomes.
- Revised Strategy Focus: The Botswana workshop highlighted the urgent need for a revised strategy emphasizing integral mission and intentional discipleship. There is a challenge of ownership of the strategic plan.
- Inclusion of Vulnerable Groups: Stakeholders emphasized the importance of involving children, youth, families, and women in governance and decision-making.
- Redefining Secretariat's Role: The workshop underscored the importance of redefining the secretariat's role and fostering robust linkages with National Evangelical Fellowships (NEFs). There is a disconnect between NEFs and AEA secretariat.
- Pillar-Specific Attention: Specific areas within the strategic plan's pillars were identified as needing focused attention for better alignment.
- Performance Assessment: The assessment of the five strategic pillars resulted in ratings of minimal to moderate progress for the current strategic plan.
- Achievements: Notable achievements included the revival of facilities, peace-building, election monitoring efforts, resource center establishment, and disaster response initiatives in various regions.
- Engagement in Integral Mission: Stakeholders actively engaged in teaching integral mission, especially through the adoption of technology during the COVID-19 pandemic.
- Effective Communication: AEA's effective communication efforts through newsletters and social media presence received recognition as a successful initiative.

4.0. Sustainability

From the engagement during the leadership summit, secretariat workshop and findings from the online survey following actionable points were proposed for AEA sustainability;

1. Financial Sustainability: AEA should prioritize financial sustainability by diversifying funding sources, increasing contributions from National Evangelical Fellowships (NEFs), and exploring revenue-generating activities.
2. Resource Mobilization: Continuously mobilizing resources is crucial to support AEA's mission and projects effectively. This includes seeking grants, donations, and partnerships with organizations that share similar goals.
3. Youth Engagement: AEA should focus on actively engaging and involving youth to ensure relevance and long-term impact. This includes empowering youth to take on leadership roles within the organization.
4. Inclusive Governance: AEA should work towards more inclusive governance structures, including increasing the representation of women on the board and ensuring diverse voices, especially youth and women, are actively represented in decision-making processes.
5. Communication Enhancement: Improving both internal and external communication strategies and systems is essential to streamline operations, enhance collaboration, and maintain transparency.
6. Capacity Building: AEA should invest in staff training and development to ensure a skilled and motivated workforce. This will help retain talent and improve organizational morale.
7. Adaptability and Organizational Culture: Addressing issues related to slow adaptability to change and fostering a cohesive organizational culture is pivotal to responding effectively to evolving challenges and opportunities.

8. Strategic Alignment: Ensuring alignment with NEFs' strategies and promoting collaboration among member churches and alliances is crucial for achieving AEA's mission.
9. Technology Adoption: Embracing technological advancements can enhance AEA's outreach and operations, making it more efficient and adaptable.
10. Long-Term Planning: Regularly reviewing systems, structures, strategy, and governance is essential for long-term sustainability. This includes developing a solid strategic plan with ambitious elements and fostering capable leadership while mentoring upcoming leaders.

5.0. Recommendations from the Findings

1. Stakeholder Awareness and Understanding: AEA should prioritize communication and educational initiatives to enhance stakeholders' understanding of the plan's goals, objectives, and strategies. Clear and accessible communication materials should be developed to promote engagement.
2. Implementation Review: AEA should establish a system for regular monitoring and evaluation to track progress of the proposed improvements/ Identified areas of the strategic plan's implementation process that require adjustments or enhancements.
3. Technology and Research Focus: AEA should emphasize the integration of technology and research in the plan's execution by exploring partnerships and collaborations in these areas to stay relevant in the changing landscape of African evangelicalism.
4. Effective Follow-Up and Collaboration: AEA should consider strengthening the follow-up mechanisms and intentional collaboration among stakeholders. This ensures that the outcomes of summits, workshop and consultations are effectively implemented.
5. Governance and Theological Education: AEA should consider review of the governance structure, including the roles of the President of AEA and Chair of the Executive Board, and consider benchmarking with similar entities for best governance practices. Theological education and leadership development should be prioritized.
6. Advocacy Efforts: AEA should enhance advocacy efforts at various levels, including national, sub-regional, international, and global, ensuring that AEA actively participates in legislative and policy discussions.
7. Popular version of the strategy: AEA to develop a summarized strategy document
